Sign up today for the next Human Resources Management (HRM) Enterprise Architecture (EA) 101 and EA Sharing Day events!

EA 101

August 2-4, 2010

EA 101 is a comprehensive, hands-on introduction to EA based on Department of Defense Architecture Framework (DoDAF) version 2.0. The three-day training session provides an in-depth learning experience on the fundamentals of EA, DoDAF product viewpoints, and how architecture supports various business and system transformation initiatives.

Who should attend? – New architects, subject matter experts, and transformation analysts (Business Process Reengineering (BPR), Service-Oriented Architecture (SOA), Lean Six Sigma (LSS)) will gain a deep understanding of the underlying information and relationships within an organization's architecture through instructional sessions and hands-on exercises that follow a realistic scenario.

Feedback from past attendees:

"Highly recommended to Program Managers, Requirements/Functional Managers, Portfolio Managers, Business Analysts, System Planner/Integrators!"

"Instructors were very knowledgeable, well-prepared, and simply very effective."

HRM EA Sharing Day

August 5, 2010

The bi-annual HRM EA Sharing Day will feature discussion around "Using Tools to Manage and Visualize Architecture."

- Architecture Tool industry representatives will discuss how their products facilitate the management of growing architectures.
- DoD organizations will share how they utilize tools to manage their EA program and facilitate business transformation.
- Senior architects will discuss lessons learned on managing and releasing architecture baselines, managing multiple architectures in a single tool, and tool customization and integration.

Who should attend? – Architects, Senior-level managers and functional experts (from both the HRM community and other mission areas) interested in learning more about HRM Enterprise Architecture.
